Italian Flood Victims Buried In Mass Graves

BELLUNO, Italy (AP) — More than 10,000 men worked feverishly today to collect bodies of the dead in the Vajont Dam disaster and bury them in a gigantic mass grave to prevent outbreaks of disease.

Premier Giovanni Leone came from Rome to the stricken area for a first-hand view of the disaster as police moved out more than 200 persons whose villages were endangered by the threat of new landslides.

Estimates of the dead ranged up to 3,000 believed killed when a mountain landslide crashed into the dam's reservoir Wednesday night and sent flood waters roaring over the dam and down the Piave River valley.

As Leone began his tour under a morning sun, 600 bodies had been recovered.

Most of the victims were still buried under the tons of mud and rock that turned the lovely Alpine valley 60 miles north of Venice into a wasteland. Many of the bodies may never be recovered.

Deputy Mayor Terenzio Ardian of Longorone, whose town of 4,600 was wiped out, said at least 1,500 of the town's residents were under the debris.

About 100 electric company employees, their families and several hundred residents of other villages also were missing.

Swiss Alpine rescue aircraft joined U.S. military helicopters to help Italian soldiers and police in the relief work.

Maj. Harvey C. Mayse of Westchester, Wash., commander of the U.S. 110th Aviation Co. stationed at nearby Verona, led the American helicopter crews.

"I'm 39 and I've been through warfare," Mayse said, "but this is the worst thing I have ever seen in my life. I hope I never see anything like it again."

The Swiss and Americans removed 200 persons from hamlets overlooking the Vajont Reservoir which seemed to be in danger of being swept away by threatened new landslides.

Many more residents of the hamlets refused to leave. They preferred to remain where their families had lived for centuries.

Interior Undersecretary Giovanni Giraudo warned that if the bodies were not soon buried properly, the area would face a major epidemic hazard.

No Americans Lost

U.S. Military personnel worked alongside Italian troops, police and Red Cross teams. Supplies and heavy earthmoving equipment moved into the stricken zone from all sections of Italy.

The landslide, crashing into the reservoir, sent more than 100 millions of tons of water plunging nearly 700 feet up the surrounding mountain sides. Then the raging water boiled over the 873-foot-high reinforced concrete dam, and roared down the valley, wiping out whole villages.

Giraudo told newsmen Thursday night that recent heavy rains had caused "some preoccupation" about conditions of the side of Mt. Toc, the 6,336-foot peak on the south flank of the reservoir from which the mass of earth and stones crashed into the water. An upper corner of the dam was damaged but the barrier held fast.

Giraudo said engineers had been lowering the reservoir level for three days as a normal precaution before winter, when danger of landslides always increase.

ENEL, the government agency in charge of the power industry, denied that its engineers could have averted the disaster.

Party Is Split Over Successor To Macmillan

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Britain's ruling Conservative party was split today by a bitter three-man fight to succeed ailing Harold Macmillan as prime minister and party leader.

Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler led the field despite a dramatic challenge Thursday night by Lord Hailsham, science minister and party leader in the House of Lords.

The dark horse, Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling, was to address the 4,000 delegates at the annual party conference here today. Maudling, 46, a Tory version of a New Frontiersman, has confided to friends he thinks he has a chance of getting the prize if Butler and Hailsham slug each other hard enough.

In Washington, President Kennedy ordered the Defense Department to provide "any assistance required and desired" by the Italian government. Kennedy also cabled Italian President Antonio Segni that "all Americans join me in expressing heartfelt sympathy to all those who have suffered."

Storm Loss Strikes Blow At Castro's Dictatorship

WASHINGTON (AP) — An anti-Castro group says the devastation wrought in Cuba by hurricane Flora has struck a major blow at Fidel Castro's dictatorship and "almost anything could happen" to him now.

The Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, an anti-Castro organization, said today hurricane damage is only the latest threat to the prime minister's rule. Also endangering his position, it said, is the collapse of Cuba's food supply and "increasing disenchantment with increasingly rigid application of Communist discipline and food rationing."

Even if the hurricane damage was not catastrophic, committee experts said, it unquestionably represents an extremely serious setback for the Castro government.

Death Toll Unknown
Reports of the damage dealt Cuba by the hurricane have been sparse. U.S. government experts do not have enough information to evaluate the situation definitely. The Cuban press has written of 43 deaths. The Cuban rescue radio network has spoken of 200.

Havana radio, meanwhile, has cautioned against rumors until there is an official announcement. The committee pieced together information it said it received from inside Cuba and messages transmitted over an interior Cuban radio network in an attempt to appraise the damage.

It quoted a message from Castro transmitted in Cuba on the night of Oct. 7 as saying: "I fear the magnitude of harm to human life from the hurricane will be very great."

"All of the area of the Cauto Basin where thousands of families lived has been totally inundated and the magnitude of damage of this hurricane cannot really be calculated," Castro was quoted as saying.

Valley Flooded
Mayor Jorge Risquet, a military commander, said the situation was equally bad in other areas.

The committee, an organization of U.S. citizens opposing the Castro regime, said about half of Cuba "suffered extremely heavy losses of every description."

In Miami, the Latin American monitoring service reported Thursday having intercepted a radio conversation between Castro and Risquet.

Risquet is quoted as saying Wednesday: "The worst loss of human life is in the western part of Oriente—in Jiguani, Bayamo, Manzanillo, Tunas, Holguin, Gibara and Mayari."

Castro, reportedly in Holguin at the time, is quoted as saying: "The whole valley is flooded. I fear for the people who were not evacuated. Some survivors have been sitting in trees for 24 hours."

Red Cross Aid Rejected
In Washington, Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer, said that the Cuban Red Cross, acting on orders from Castro, has turned down American Red Cross assistance.

Castro has denounced the offer as a hypocritical gesture from an imperialist power having aggressive designs against Cuba.

A committee spokesman said "official messages pleading for calmness by the families of 'scholarship holders' — Communist jargon for 4,000 children drafted into labor battalions to gather coffee—suggest something tragic may have happened to them. The coffee area was one of the hardest hit, and official estimates suggest about 90 per cent of the coffee crop, now under harvest, was lost."

Sen. Goldwater On Course As Front-Runner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater may be tacking a bit into the political winds but he is holding closely to his conservative course as a front runner for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

A comparison of Goldwater's recent statements with views he expressed earlier shows that the Arizona senator sometimes veers off from positions he has taken earlier. But in most cases the substance of what he is saying bears a remarkable resemblance to what he has said before.

Goldwater himself has denied that he is modifying his conservative views to make himself more attractive to middle of the road Republicans who may hold the balance of power at next year's San Francisco convention. Those who contend that, he said, just haven't taken the trouble to read his speeches.

Cuban Stand Revised
"I think there would be something wrong with any man in public life who didn't change some of his ideas to meet the developments of the time," he said. "Consistency is not necessarily a virtue. But I haven't changed my stand on any fundamental issue and I don't intend to."

One example of a change involves what might be classified as a refinement of the Goldwater views on what to do about Communism.

In a Feb. 2 speech in Syracuse, N.Y., he said the American people would back "anything that needs to be done to get rid of that cancer" of communism. "If it means war," he said, "let it mean war."

In Cleveland, Ohio, on Sept. 9, Goldwater said that the United States should give more support to freeing Cuba from the Communists. But he emphasized that the Cuban exiles should take back the island and no American troops should be involved.

Dispute Over Military Cars Causes Tieup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk personally delivered a strong protest today against Soviet action in holding up U. S. troop convoys on the highway connecting Berlin and West Germany.

Calling in Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Rusk "firmly expressed the concern with which we view this unjustifiable action," State Department officials reported.

BERLIN (AP) — About 100 combat-ready Soviet troops blocked a U.S. Army supply convoy from Berlin today.

Another U.S. Army convoy of 100 armed soldiers moved out of Berlin and stood nearby, possibly ready to give assistance to the halted convoy.

It was the worst incident in years on the autobahn, the life-line superhighway between West Germany and Berlin, 100 miles inside Communist East Germany.

Reliable sources said the Russian soldiers carried submachine guns and some wore steel helmets. An Allied officer said he had never seen so many Soviet soldiers at the Berlin checkpoint, Babelsberg.

Tough Stand Is Puzzle
The stalled U.S. convoy had been harassed ever since it entered the superhighway Thursday. It was almost a day behind schedule when it reached the checkpoint outside Berlin.

A U.S. spokesman said the Russians declared they would maintain the blockade until settlement of a dispute over handling U.S. military traffic. He denounced the blockade as "a wholly unilateral Soviet action" designed to force a change in established procedures.

The reason for the Soviet toughness was somewhat of a mystery in view of the recent relaxation of East-West tensions. Some speculated that the Russians were retaliating for a recent U.S. show of strength to halt rock tossing by East German border guards.

The spokesman first said the Russians were blocking all traffic on the autobahn by throwing armored personnel carriers across both the east and westbound lanes.

Convoy Stopped
Later he issued a statement saying some civilian traffic was being allowed to pass both ways. "Contrary to previous information," he said, "Soviet personnel carriers were not moved into the westbound lane. They were placed in the eastbound lane. Some civilian traffic is moving in both directions, using the westbound lane."

The difficulty began Thursday when the Russians stopped the U.S. supply convoy of 18 vehicles and 61 men at Marienborn. This is the western end of the autobahn.

The Russians demanded that soldiers get out of their vehicles and be counted. The Americans refused. U.S. officers contended their convoys on the autobahn are not subject to such controls if their papers are in order.

The convoy finally cleared Marienborn early today for the six or seven-hour trip to Berlin. Then it was stopped again at Babelsberg, within sight of West Berlin's city limits, at 4 a.m.

Since Thursday morning, the Russians have delayed three convoys, one of them twice, but cleared two other groups for the trip between West Berlin and West Germany without a holdup.

Armed Troops Deployed
An 18-vehicle American convoy with 61 men aboard, delayed by the Soviets for 16 hours Thursday as it tried to cross the East German border, was stopped again by the Russians this morning as it tried to enter West Berlin at the Babelsberg checkpoint.

The Soviets made the same demand they had made at the East German border Thursday — that the 61 soldiers alight to be counted. The convoy commander refused, upholding the U.S. contention that military convoys are not subject to interference if their papers are in order.

Reliable informants said about 100 Soviet troops were deployed around the checkpoint as high-

Edwards Tells Of Mobsters At Grosse Pointe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards was to continue today his account of the Motor City's underworld figures and operations in testimony before Senate crime investigators.

He told the Senate Investigations subcommittee Thursday that Detroit is "the cleanest and least racket ridden big city in the country" although he said organized crime rakes in $150 million or more yearly.

Edwards took over the spotlight of the Senate Investigations subcommittee's hearings from Joseph Valachi, the mobster turned informer who recounted his three decades in crime in five previous sessions before the committee.

Edwards was to tell the senators today about Mafia-sponsored handbook and numbers operations and the infiltration of legitimate businesses by Mafia members and their associates.

In his testimony Thursday, Edwards said the five top "dons" (bosses) of the Mafia mobsters in Detroit live in the swanky suburb of Grosse Pointe. He said four of the five were born in Sicily and they are locked together by ancestry and intermarriage.

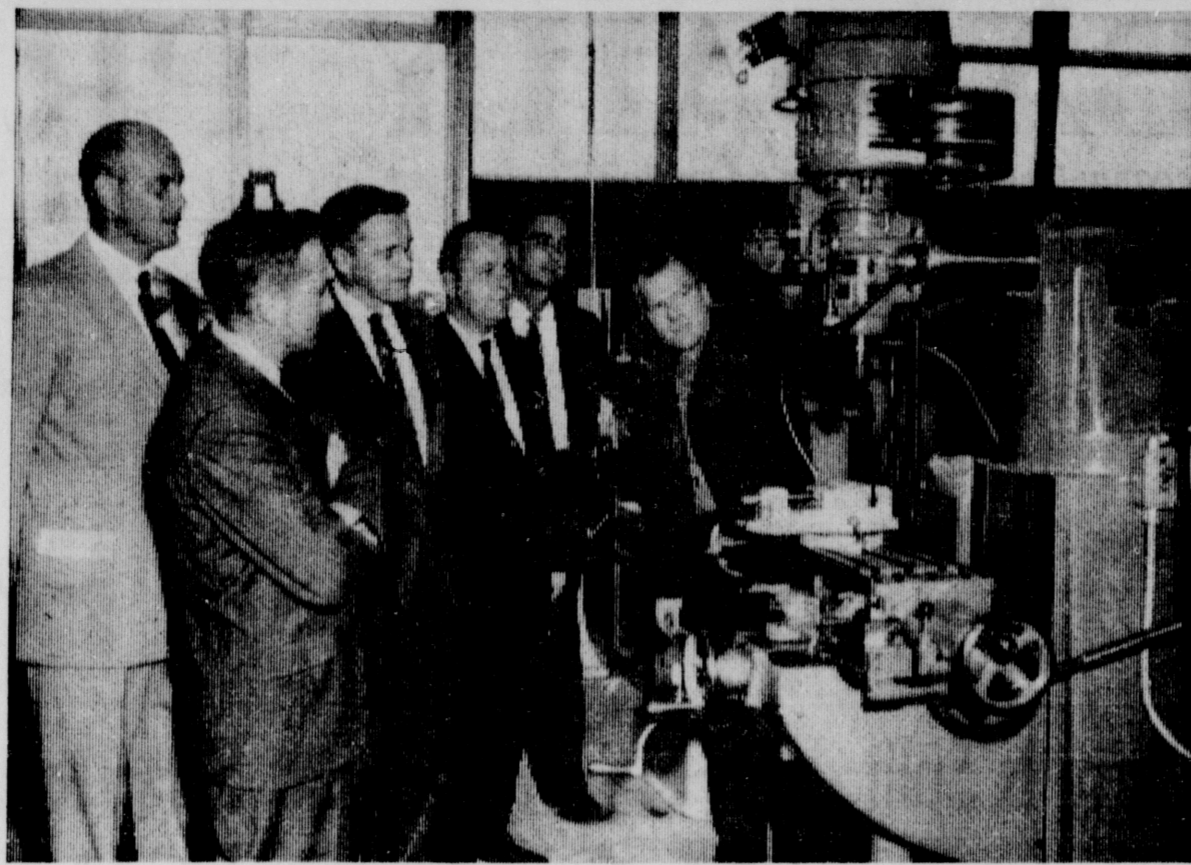

While Edwards referred to the crime organization as the Mafia, Valachi had told the senators his New York co-criminals never used that term but called it "Cosa Nostra," meaning "our thing."

Edwards joined senators in wondering out loud why the son of a New York mobster is able to run a profitable nonunion trash collection service in Detroit, while competing firms are organized by James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union.

Edwards and Sgt. William J. DePugh described prostitution rackets they said are operated by the mob from four Detroit hotels, and of their still unsuccessful efforts to have one of them padlocked by order of the Wayne County Circuit Court.

Minister Gives Silent Sermon

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Each Sunday, a Louisville minister delivers a silent sermon. The 65 members of his congregation are deaf. The Rev. Robert M. Landes, 24, communicates in sign language.

"The deaf need the Bible's message, too," said Landes, pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist Church for the Deaf, "and this is my way of serving the cause of the Lord."

Landes became interested in work for the deaf when it was discovered that his older brother was deaf in one ear. He learned to "sign" the alphabet with his brother during his freshman year at Carson-Newman College in Jefferson City, Tenn.

At college, Landes recalled, he had a friend who was deaf. The friend failed in school, and the last thing he said before leaving was, "I'll pray that you will become a missionary for the deaf."

The following summer, Landes established a deaf ministry in Seattle under a Southern Baptist Convention program. A year later, he and his brother established a deaf ministry in their home church at Richmond, Va.

"The Lord was leading and everything opened up," Landes said, explaining how he came to Louisville and obtained a separate congregation for the deaf. It is one of perhaps five such churches in the country.

During the year and a half he has been pastor of the Louisville church, Landes has seen his congregation grow rapidly.

Tax Form 1040 In Mail Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

FILL-IN: After hearing Central Intelligence Agency Director John A. McCone in secret, the chairman and two other members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee have declared criticism of the CIA's role in South Viet Nam was without foundation.

The agency "has been unfairly criticized," Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said Thursday after the 3½-hour interrogation. Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., agreed, and the committee's senior Republican, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, declared there is "not a shred of reliable evidence" that the CIA has departed from its operating function.

TAXES: The first batch of federal tax form 1040 is in the mail, looking much like last year's model. The most noticeable difference: a window in the first page of the package so the taxpayer's name, address and identification number can show.

Tax accountants who make out returns for others are first on the mailing list, but 65 million individuals can be certain they will get their copies soon.

CALL: The Army will receive 13,000 men in December through the draft. The quota, all for that service, is 4,000 below the November figure.

The history of the courts of law of Delta County will be reviewed by Atty. John G. Erickson of Escanaba at the meeting of the Delta County Historical Society to be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday Oct. 16, in the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce building.

He will describe the method of research in compiling information for The Century Book Chapter on "Laws, Courts and Crimes," together with little-known facts about the organization of the county and early-day justice. Atty. Erickson is U. S. Court Commissioner here.

His talk will be of particular interest because of the recent favorable action of the people of Delta County in voting funds to construct a new county jail. The county's first public building was a jail, constructed in 1865.

The Historical Society will hear reports from Dave Coon, Museum director, and from John J. Mitchell, director. George Embs, president of the Historical Society, will conduct the meeting and the speaker will be introduced by Clint Dunathan.

A social hour will follow the program and coffee will be served.

Police Pursue Speeder; Three Hurt In Crash

An Escanaba man, his 15-year-old son and a police officer were injured when the officer, pursuing a speeding car, collided with another auto at an intersection at 9:20 last night.

The father, Donald J. Mahoney, 37, of 1100 S. 19th St., was reported in fair condition today at St. Francis Hospital. He suffered fractures of the pelvis and ribs and cuts about the face.

His son, Kenneth, who suffered bruises and shock, is in apparently good condition.

Police Officer Howard Smale, 26, driver of the patrol car, is also in apparently good condition, the hospital reported. He suffered cuts, bruises and shock.

Arrested was Wayne F. Bowers, 22, of Muskegon, who has been staying in Escanaba at 1612 N. 20th St.

Bowers was charged with reckless driving, to which he pleaded not guilty in municipal court today. His case was continued to 10 a. m. and he was remanded to jail when he failed to post $200 bond. Police also made complaint against Bowers for speeding, excessive noise and failing to stop for stop signs.

The police report of events shows that Officer Smale observed a vehicle driving at high speed and with excessive noise.

Chorus To Sing Old Songs For Show Saturday

The Escanaba Centennial theme will be carried out in the SPEBSQSA annual "Harvest of Harmony" at the Oliver Memorial Auditorium of the Escanaba Junior High School at 8 Saturday evening.

Two of the numbers that will be sung by the Bay de Noc Chorus of the Escanaba chapter will go back to the early days of Escanaba's history. One of the two older numbers has never been sung here before. It was composed in the early 1860's during the Civil War period.

Visiting quartets have been asked to include one old-time number among the songs they will use Saturday night.

The Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America is celebrating its Silver Jubilee this year, for it was in 1948 at Tulsa, Okla., that a group of men, remembering the days of their youth before the advent of radio, talking moving pictures and hi-fi, nostalgically decided to attempt to perpetuate the songs they had enjoyed.

Resolved to keep the music and harmony of the Gay Nineties, of the gas-light era and the foot operated player piano alive in the hearts of men, they formed the first chapter of the SPEBSQSA.

Since that time the Society has grown to a membership of between 35,000 and 40,000 men, in local chapters in all the 50 United States, as well as all sections of Canada. This year's International competition for quartets and choruses was held in Toronto, Canada.

Last June the Bay de Noc Chorus won the class B area championship of its district in a contest held at Marinette.

Next Nov. 2, the chorus will journey to Hopkins, Minn., to compete in the Land O'Lakes District contest for the district championship in class B. At that time they will compete with other choruses from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Manitoba Province, Canada, and portions of Ontario Province.

One of the songs presented by the chorus Saturday evening will be sung in the district competition.

The Eskey-Tones, a newly-formed quartet of Escanaba and Gladstone members of the Escanaba chapter will make its debut in the show Saturday. The name selected by the quartet comes from the first two syllables of Escanaba and the last of Gladstone.

Four other quartets and the local chorus are on the program.

The Escanaba City Council will hold its next meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 16, rather than on Thursday the 17th, it was announced today by City Manager George M. Harvey.

Other business to come before the Council will include:

He was a member of St. Thomas Church, the Holy Name Society and Cloverland Post 82, American Legion.

Surviving are his wife, the former Lillian Rasmussen, four sons, John Jr., Edward James, Escanaba; Thomas at home; and Michael of Livonia; two daughters, Mrs. Joseph (Margie) Melokna, Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Francis (Marie) Verbeten, Kimberly, Wis.; one sister, Miss Marie Greis; three brothers, Michael, Charles and Clarence, Escanaba, and 16 grandchildren.

Steering Tourists

Manager Edward Forsman of the Iron County Chamber of Commerce told the budget meeting of the Upper Michigan Tourist Association in Marquette this week that he "didn't like the philosophy" of the International Bridge representation in the staffing of the UMTA booth at Midwest travel shows.

Forsman pointed out that while the Iron County area had a tourist traffic growth of about 17 per cent this year, the Sault Ste. Marie area has reported gains of as much as 72 per cent.

It's that ding-dong bridge from the American Sault to the Canadian Sault, suggested Forsman. It's siphoning tourists out of the Upper Peninsula and into Ontario at the Sault, and why should the U. P. be in the business of helping its tourist business flee?

Forsman didn't press the point; he just tossed it into the discussion about hands across the border. He lit a short fuse. Alex Nelson of the Houghton-Hancock Chamber of Commerce pointed out that the July AAA publication in Canada devoted 8 pages to touring in the United States, with liberal treatment of the U. P. "The circle tour is here to stay; let's get with it," suggested Nelson.

Herb Ellis of the Mackinac Bridge Authority said that Mackinac Bridge traffic was up only 4.5 per cent in the summer, so if Iron County was up 17 per cent the traffic didn't all go over the bridge and into Canada, much of it must have come by other routes.

Ken Dorman, manager of the UMTA said "If we kick out the International Bridge's representatives, they're just going to go to Canada's exhibit and they have worked hard and contributed substantially to our income."

Discussion of Upper Michigan-Ontario relations revealed that there's need for postal reciprocity between the two governments to nourish mutual promotion of the tourist business.

"It doubles the cost of private tourist promotion literature to get it into Canada," said President Ken Slater of UMTA.

"And they frank theirs into the United States," said Ken Dorman. "We spend $5,000 on postage and we deliver their literature free in this country under their frank! There's one you can kick around."

"The solution is in Congress. We get a lot of business from Canada and we welcome it, but we should have a reciprocal arrangement. Our postal rate in Canada is set by the U. S. Post Office Department."

Upshot of the discussion was adoption of a resolution asking U. S. postal authorities to explore means of a reciprocal agreement with Ontario on exchange of recreational literature.

Ed Forsman isn't suggesting a customs barrier for Canadians at Crystal Falls, but he still isn't happy about the Sault funnel. "When they go around the North Shore they're too tired to visit us by the time they get to Duluth," he mourned.

TOM LITTLE, NASHVILLE TENNESSEAN

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(N E A)—Much of Sen. Barry Goldwater's support for the Republican presidential nomination is coming from people who are "antis"—violently against something or other.

This has always been considered a sign of political strength and voter appeal in American campaign history.

People who are "anti" existing situations and policies usually are better political workers than those who have to support an administration in power and seeking re-election.

Any time you can get a good political reform movement going to throw the rascals out, it is hard to beat, particularly if the programs of the ins aren't working very well.

Unquestionably, Goldwater has made his reputation as an effective member of a minority party. He has goaded the Democratic administration often and loud.

This has aroused enthusiastic support from like-minded individuals all over the country and built up the senator's following. But when former President Eisenhower recently wrote that "I am unclear on precisely what Senator Goldwater's views are," he may have spoken for many others.

People know what Goldwater is against. But they have trouble listing the policies he is for. And a political candidate needs a positive platform as well as a negative program if he is to create the image of a constructive statesman and not just a critic.

Eisenhower in his copyrighted New York Herald Tribune statement put the specific questions on which he wants all Republican candidates for 1964 to go on record:

How to strengthen ties with U. S. allies? How to maintain adequate defense? How to reform full employment? How to reform the tax structure? How to bring government expenditures in line with revenues? How to check the massive accumulation of federal power? How to achieve equal rights for all? How to provide presidential leadership? How to restore trust in government?

Goldwater, noting these questions, expressed puzzlement that Eisenhower didn't know where he—Goldwater—stood on them. But a re-examination of the senator's recent speeches fails to shed much light on his positive policies though the list of things he is against is long.

He is against the Kennedy administration for "irresponsible spending, questionable defense policies and dubious foreign relations." He is also against:

• "Co-existence with international communism," and even against having diplomatic relations with Russia.

• The test ban treaty and disarmament.

• Peaceful trips to the moon. He is against relegating military functions of space to second place.

• "Political and economic power of sometimes corrupt and sometimes grafting heads of the great labor unions." He would ban nationwide collective bargaining.

• Fair employment practices (FEPC) and the proposed public accommodations provision in civil rights law.

• Pentagon policy declaring segregated areas near military posts off limits to the armed forces.

• Extending federal power in the field of education "at a heavy, unwarranted cost to the taxpayers."

• Medicare under Social Security, but would give tax credits or deductions to cover medical costs.

• Most welfare programs and farm subsidies.

• The far left, liberals and Americans for Democratic Action. He has refused to denounce the far right.

If these views expose Goldwater's weaknesses they are also his source of strength among like-minded people.

Santa Fe was founded in 1609 by the Spanish as capital of New Mexico.

The Doctor Says:

Precautions Prevent Adhesions

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q — I have had four abdominal operations. After each one I was told I had adhesions. Do I have to have another operation to try to get rid of them?

A — You do not say in what way the adhesions affect you. Often a person who has had one or more abdominal operations has had a varying degree of abdominal discomfort that is due to irritation of the bowel rather than to adhesions. A few days on a bland diet and avoidance of laxatives will often relieve this discomfort.

If adhesions are present it is best to ignore them unless they cause obstruction of the intestines. When this happens operation is necessary. The unfortunate feature of this condition is that once started it often recurs. Your surgeon should take all known precautions to prevent adhesions from forming but sometimes they occur in spite of all such measures.

Q — My sister's blood count showed 4,450,000 red blood cells and 6,500 white cells. Why is the white cells count so low? Is this anemia?

A — The normal red cell count for a woman is 4,200,000 to 4,500,000. Since your sister's count is within this normal range she does not have anemia. A normal white cell count ranges from 5,000 to 10,000 so her count is O. K., in that department, too. The white cell count, however, gives no clue to the presence or absence of anemia.

Q — Are Butibel tablets habit-forming? Our doctor prescribed them for my husband and he has taken them for three years.

A — Butibel is a compound containing a barbiturate and belladonna. It is most often given for an irritable bowel and requires a doctor's prescription. All barbiturates are habit-forming and should be used for a short time only. Your doctor may have a special reason for keeping your husband on this medicine for so long a time, but irritable bowel treatment with Butibel should be replaced with other forms of treatment aimed at controlling the condition and removing the cause.

Q — My daughter who was 19 in February did not menstruate until about a year ago. Her periods come about every four months and are scanty. Could this be due to emotional causes?

A — There are many causes of missed or scanty periods in young women. These include a small underdeveloped uterus, anemia, diabetes, tuberculosis, thyroid deficiency and extreme obesity, among others. It is also seen in some girls who have menstruated normally for several years, as a result of a change of habits or environment such as living away from home for the first time. It may occur in the first few months of marriage even though the young woman is not pregnant and it may occur as a result of nervous tension.

When the cause is on a nervous or emotional basis, the regular pattern of menstruation is usually re-established within a few weeks or months. If it is not, a doctor should make a thorough examination to determine the cause.

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual

"I'd like a few words with Mr. Horace Greeley!"

A black and white cartoon illustration by Gil Fox. In the foreground, a man with glasses, wearing a plaid shirt and trousers, is reclining on a sofa, looking up with a surprised expression. In the background, a woman in a dress stands near a doorway, also looking surprised. To the left, a television set is visible, showing a woman's face on its screen. A small table with a bowl is in the foreground. The cartoon is signed 'Gil Fox' in the bottom right corner.

"Is something wrong, Elbert? I thought I heard you say 'WOW'!"

A black and white cartoon illustration. A woman with short, curly hair is seated on a bench, holding a telephone receiver to her ear. She is wearing a short-sleeved top and dark pants. A small boy stands in front of her, looking up at her. He is holding a small object in his hand. The setting appears to be a room with a doorway on the left and a framed picture on the wall behind the woman. The signature 'Dick Turner' and the date '10-11' are in the bottom right corner. ## Judith Aune Bride Of James Anderson

The Rev. Erland Carlson performed the 7:30 p. m. double ring ceremony Oct. 5 in Christ the King Lutheran Church, at which Judith Aune, 420 2nd Ave. S., Escanaba, became the bride of James C. Anderson, 903 N. 19th St.

The wedding service was followed by a reception in the church parlors.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Aune of Grand Rapids, Minn. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence T. Anderson, Escanaba, are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride's gown of nylon organza was styled with a scoop neckline with three dimensional Venice lace trim, fitted bodice and full skirt with chapel train, shirred at the waist and caught up with tiny lace flowers. Her pure silk elbow length veil, hand rolled, was gathered to a dainty queen's crown of pearl sprays. Her flowers were white mums and feathered carnations, with yellow sweetheart roses.

Bride's Attendants
Rebecca Aune of Grand Rapids was her sister's maid of honor and Mary Anderson of Baldwin, Wis., a cousin, and Mrs. Kathryn Ford, Gladstone Rte. 1, were bridesmaids. Turquoise nylon chiffon over yellow taffeta fashioned their gowns which were made with fitted bodices, scoop necklines and collars forming small sleeves. Their tiny rose headpieces were of self material. They carried cascading clusters of yellow mums and pompons.

Best man was Donald Dahlin and groomsmen were Thomas Greis and Clifford Olsson, Marquette. Ushering were Gordon Garlick of Royal Oak, Mich., and Robert Bero.

Mrs. Aune greeted guests in a toast brown sheath with rust and willow green accessories. Mrs. Anderson wore a light green sheath with imported serrano with forest green accessories. Their corsage were fall shades of pompons with wheat accents.

At Reception
Connie Severson served punch during the reception. Mrs. Judith Sarasin cut the wedding cake. Mrs. Marilyn Garlick and Mrs. Shirley Bero presided at the coffee service and Mrs. Janet Olsson was in charge of the guest book.

The newlyweds, both Escanaba Senior High School graduates, will live in Escanaba. Wedding guests included Mrs. R. C. DeGoller, Mrs. Hannah Aune, Blanche Aune, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Nelson, Baldwin, Wis., Miss Anna Neerland, California, Howard Aune, Grand Rapids, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Beversdorf, Birmingwood, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Garlick, Royal Oak, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Olsson, Marquette, Mrs. Allan A. Wells, Flint.

With Our Women

A vivacious and charming person is Jeannine Cote of 407 S. 7th St., housewife, mother and teacher, and a born leader in community affairs.

Mrs. Cote, whose husband Jean Cote, is a member of Escanaba Area Senior High School faculty, might be described as a newcomer to Escanaba, but her interest and participation in club work and associated activities has established her as a "solid citizen" in a short space of time.

She is the new president of the Escanaba Woman's Club, a past president of Newcomers Club, a member of Escanaba Country Club, as well as an affiliate of Lincoln Fellowship of Wisconsin, with which her father was prominently identified.

She was born in Chippewa Falls, Wis., Nov. 15, 1930, a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Landry. She received her bachelor of arts degree from the College of St. Catherine in St. Paul and also a degree in Library Science from Wisconsin State College, Eau Claire.

During her college years she won the State of Minnesota Voice contest in dramatic soprano—that was in 1951—served as an officer in the League of Women Voters and was active in speech work and Catholic social work.

After leaving school she taught at Holy Angels Academy in Minneapolis, in Wisconsin high schools at Stanley, Augusta and Green Bay, and more recently in Escanaba Senior High School. She also has devoted much time to varied organizations of young people in other communities.

Her marriage to Jean Cote of Holyoke, Mass., took place in her home city, Cadott, Wis., June 6, 1953. They have three children, Bradley, Jahane and Sean.

"Right now, of course, my family is my biggest hobby," Mrs. Cote observed. "I enjoy playing bridge and in keeping up with foreign affairs which coincides with my college major of American Government. And, I must add, my husband and I both enjoy being part of such a fine community as Escanaba."

High score awards were given Mrs. Schomin and Mrs. Herbert Scheriff, and low score prizes, Mrs. Richard Wagner and Mrs. Nijo Makosky. Mrs. Donald Metor received the guest award.

Miss Cormier's marriage to Michael Wagner will take place Oct. 26.

School Lunches Big, Healthful And Tasty

By AMY MOBERG

Today's mother, whether she lives in a small village or in a metropolitan center, can send her Susie or Johnny off to school in the morning and relax, knowing that her child will sit down to the best meal that could possibly be served. School lunch is big business. Just how big and how efficient it operates was learned from a brief visit with James L. Borough, director of the School Lunch program, State Department of Public Instruction, who came to Escanaba from Lansing to serve as chairman of the School Lunch Workshop at the M. E. A. convention.

"This year in the school lunch and special milk program for public and non-public schools," Mr. Borough said yesterday, "we will spend about $400,000. In our smallest school 14 lunches are served each day—in our largest system, in the city of Detroit, 35,000 are prepared and served by over 700 employees."

This, he explained, involves only food and labor. Added to the figure, is the cost of maintaining the school kitchens and their equipment.

Lunch Pattern
All school lunches follow the A pattern, which was set up to provide one-third of the daily nutritional requirements of a child 12 to 13 years of age. The lunch pattern includes two ounces of proteins, ready to eat, a helping of two vegetables or of two fruits, or a combination of both, a slice of enriched bread, two teaspoons

Varied Subjects Discussed By Washington PTA

The regular meeting of the Washington PTA was held Tuesday evening with Mrs. Chet Marrier presiding.

Dr. Alfred Gossan, optometrist, presented an interesting talk on the benefits obtained in early eye care for children. The most important years are the first through third grades of school, he said.

Mrs. Harvey Gasman spoke briefly about undesirable literature available to children and youth in the community.

Traffic hazards on Stephenson Avenue were discussed in full detail, with many suggestions, but few solutions. The safety of children is of great concern to all parents, it was pointed out, with little ones crossing busy streets.

The Washington PTA will hold its Halloween Carnival Thursday evening, Oct. 31 with entertainment planned for everyone.

The Gold Bond stamp project committee hopes to complete its present project by November. Full cooperation is desired from each member and for full details members may call Mrs. Leo Niquette, project chairman at ST6-1412.

Room attendance award was given to the kindergarten afternoon classroom, Mrs. Jean Kobasic, teacher.

A social hour was enjoyed with mothers of Mrs. Ruth Tippet's fourth grade as hostesses. They were Mrs. Milton Monson, Mrs. Russell Wendrick and Mrs. Leo Niquette, assisted by Mrs. Fred Van Effen and Mrs. Paul Drefs.

Story Program For Children

All boys and girls three and above are invited to visit Escanaba Public Library Saturday morning for the Story Time program. It will be held at 10 in the Children's Room. The stories will be: "How Big Is a Foot?", a story about the days before rulers were known; "Trouble Is a Cat", a cat that earned its name; and "The Third Monkey", who tried to be everything but a monkey, and didn't succeed.

Benjamin Franklin published an almanac under the name of Poor Richard.

Social activities of the M.E.A. convention included the attractive tea at which Escanaba Area High School Library Club entertained Thursday afternoon in the library of the new high school building. From the left are Mrs. Carl Makel, Manitowish High School, Mrs. John Kelly, who teaches in Gulliver, Mrs. Charles Fair, St. Ignace High School librarian and W. M. Hervi, Ironwood. Pouring are Sandy Makinen and Virginia Engstrom. (Daily Press Photo)

In This Corner

with Ray Crandall

George Mathison, Chicago, informs us that the national rolepso show scheduled for television showing Saturday has been pre-empted . . . Present plans call for showing in about a month.

It is likely that some new faces will be seen in the Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves championship tournament here this winter . . . Ironwood has formed a boxing club with about 20 young men taking part in workouts under the guidance of Waiko Spets . . . Officers of the club are Quentin Minkin, president; Dan DeRizzo, vice president, and Judge Charles C. Keeton, secretary-treasurer.

Dick Drennen, former pro at the Escanaba Country Club who was elected secretary-treasurer of the Wisconsin Professional Golfers' Assn. recently, will be a delegate to the national convention at Palm Beach, Fla., Nov. 28-Dec. 6 . . . Drennen has been the club pro at Maple Bluff Country Club in Madison since leaving Escanaba in 1959.

Dick Ellsworth, 22-game winner with the Chicago Cubs this season, will be the speaker at the annual Ishpeming baseball dinner for Midget, Babe Ruth and American Legion players Saturday night . . . Ellsworth, 23, lost 10 decisions and led the Cubs' mound staff in complete games, victories, innings pitched, strikeouts and earned run average . . . His 2.14 was second only to Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers in the National League.

Officers of the North Shore Golf Club in Menominee have announced plans to rebuild the clubhouse on M-35 next spring, enlarging the present facilities . . . Jerry Rice has been re-hired as club professional and Dick Winther as re-elected president.

'Prop Up Poor' Baseball Plan Fails To Help

CINCINNATI (AP)—"We didn't expect much," said President George Weiss of the New York Mets—and that's about what he found in the National League plan to "Prop Up The Poor."

But General Manager Paul Richards of the Houston Colts apparently felt that Weiss had beaten him to what little there was in the grab bag.

Those were the snap reactions of the two expansion teams today to the draft plan.

The Mets took only two players from the list of 33 submitted by the other eight teams, the Colts just one. They were allowed a total of eight if they wanted, plus the right to negotiate individually for others on the list. No club was bound to lose more than one player, however.

Weiss, with first pick, chose Bill Haas, a 20-year-old bonus first baseman of the Los Angeles Dodgers. Richards selected Claude Raymond, 26-year-old relief pitcher from Milwaukee, and then Weiss named Jack Fisher, 24-year-old pitcher from the San Francisco Giants.

The price tag was $30,000 each. National League President Warren Giles declined to disclose the

State College Grid Teams Face Tough Weekend Foes

By The Associated Press

The Michigan-Michigan State football game at Ann Arbor will receive most of the attention this weekend, but the state's small colleges will also get their share, especially in some interstate clashes.

Hillsdale, held to a scoreless tie by Northern Michigan last week, travels to De Kalb, Ill., to meet Northern Illinois. The Dales will be up against the top passer in the country in Northern quarterback George Bork.

Bork leads the nation in passes attempted, passes completed, touchdown passes and passing yardage. He has clinched on 10 of 10 passes already this season while leading Northern Illinois to four straight victories.

Detroit is at Kentucky Saturday night. The Titans, losers to Boston College last Friday night, have been improving with every game, and coach John Idzik says he's looking for another close one.

In other games, it's Western Michigan at Bowling Green

Giants Are Choice To Beat Cleveland

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Cleveland's Jimmy Brown and New York's Sam Huff will bump heads again Sunday when the unbeaten Browns invade New York for a game that should set the pattern for the title race in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League.

If Cleveland continues its headlong rush by beating the Giants in their home opener, the defending champions will be hard pressed to repeat. A Giant defeat would send the winner of the Pittsburgh at St. Louis game into undisputed possession of second place.

The Chicago Bears, the other undefeated team in the league, expect no serious trouble at Los Angeles, first stop on a two-week tour of the West Coast. Green Bay, one game behind the Bears in the Western Conference, already is pointing ahead to their Nov. 17 rematch at Chicago. The Packers play their first road game Sunday at Minnesota.

Dallas, only non-winner in the East, is home to the disappointing Detroit Lions. San Francisco invades Baltimore and Philadelphia is at Washington in other NFL games.

In the American Football League, there is one Friday night game, Oakland at Boston. After San Diego's upset by Denver there no longer is an undefeated team in the AFL, or a non-winner. The New York Jets, leading the Eastern Division, move into San Diego, Western Division pacesetter, for the big game Sunday. Buffalo plays at Kansas City and Houston at Denver in the other Sunday games.

Despite that Denver-San Diego score, we managed to stay over .500 with a two-league record of 23-17-2 for the season. So here goes: All games Sunday unless otherwise indicated:

NFL

New York 35, Cleveland 31—Jimmy Brown won't be stopped by Sam Huff or anybody else but neither will Y.A. Tittle. The old Bald Eagle will find the chinks in the Browns' pass defense. Expect a wild one.

St. Louis 24, Pittsburgh 23—Steelers may have been used up by Browns last week and will be hurting without John Henry Johnson. Lou Michaels' field goals will make it close but that Card offense with John David Crow back in action should swing the balance.

Chicago 28, Los Angeles 3—Unless the Bears take a Hollywood vacation, and George Halas won't allow that, they should romp. Rams will beat somebody but not until they hit the 49ers.

Green Bay 34, Minnesota 14—The Packers are rolling and look what the Cardinals did to the

Howe Gets Two As Wings Win

DETROIT (AP)—Gordie Howe appears to be off to the greatest season in his lengthy National Hockey League career, and that's bad news to any player who may have had visions of taking the scoring championship away from the big Detroit right winger.

Howe scored two first period power play goals as the Detroit Red Wings beat the Chicago Black Hawks 5-3 in the only NHL game scheduled Thursday night.

Howe's two goals moved him just two away from tying Maurice Richard's record of 544 career goals. They gave Detroit a lead that stood through the first two periods. Howe had scored 14 goals in 10 exhibition games for his best pre-season record.

The roof fell in on Chicago as a crowd of 12,466—the largest opening night crowd in Red Wing history—saw six goals scored in the final 15 minutes of play.

Howe was presented the Hart Trophy, as the NHL's most valuable player last season, and the Ross Trophy, for leading the league in scoring, in pre-game ceremonies.

New York will be at Montreal and Boston at Toronto in games Saturday night. Sunday's schedule has Toronto at Chicago and Boston at Detroit. No games are scheduled tonight.

Record Field In Prep Run

ALBION (AP)—A record field of 532 athletes from 76 Michigan high school cross country teams will compete on the Albion College campus Saturday in the 16th annual Dale R. Sprinkle Invitational Track Meet.

University of Detroit High School, 1962 Class A champion, will be among 21 teams competing in a new AA category created to accommodate the record entry list.

Howell moves up to A classification after winning the Class B title last year. Napoleon will be back to defend its Class C-D crown.

NBA Exhibition Games

By The Associated Press

New York 111, Philadelphia 104
Cincinnati 142, Baltimore 108
San Francisco 112, Los Angeles 95

Buy And Sell The Classified Way.

Baltimore 21, San Francisco 7—Colts have too much for disorganized 49ers with Johnny Unitas on the beam and San Francisco weak on pass defense.

Philadelphia 28, Washington 21—Johnny Sample still out and Redskins still hurting on pass coverage. Both lost to New York and both beat Dallas. It may be up to King Hill again if Sonny Jurgensen's hand is sore.

Dallas 21, Detroit 17—Strictly a hunch although the Lions are favored. The Cowboys collapse under pressure but the Lions' offense hasn't scared anybody. Darris McCord is out for Detroit and Don Perkins is back in shape for Dallas.

AFL

Boston 20, Oakland 14, Friday night—They say Babe Parilli is ready to go. If he is and Gino Cappelletti is in form, the Pats should beat the Raiders like they did in Oakland earlier.

San Diego 28, New York 10—Weeb Ewbank's Jets won't be in a row at home but they haven't bumped into anything like the Chargers. Jets will be hustling but San Diego has too many horses.

Kansas City 28, Buffalo 21—Len Dawson-to-Chris Burford combo should find weakness in Bills' pass defense although Cookie Gilchrist is reported in best shape of year. Jack Kemp's finger was jammed again last week.

Denver 21, Houston 14—Johnny McCormick engineered the big upset of San Diego. He wasn't even with the club when they lost to the Oilers earlier 20-14. Billy Cannon's condition doubtful.

Navy Will Fire Opening Blast

By The Associated Press

Roger Staubach and his Navy teammates fire the opening blast in a double-barrelled college football program at Dallas tonight, going against the Southern Methodist Mustangs in the Cotton Bowl.

Saturday afternoon Oklahoma and Texas, ranked 1-2 in the nation, clash on the same field, probably the first time in history that three of the top four college teams in the nation have performed on the same field in the same town on the same weekend.

Navy is unbeaten and ranked fourth in the nation largely because of lanky, talented Staubach, who leads the country's major colleges in individual total offense and passing.

But he could have his work cut out for him against the quick, determined SMU outfit that upset Air Force and Terry Isaacson, another talented service school quarterback, 10-0 last weekend. What the Mustangs lack in weight they make up in speed on an improving defense that surprised the Falcons.

Staubach has been unstoppable so far this season. The 6-foot-2 junior has completed 43 of 55 passes this season for 614 yards and three touchdowns. He's run for another 175 and two touchdowns, personally accounting for about two-thirds of the Navy offense that ranks first in the

Quinn Stricken At Conference

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John Quinn, general manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, rested comfortably today while physicians continued tests to find what caused him to collapse at a news conference luncheon Thursday.

The condition of the 55-year-old baseball official was so serious for a time that a priest administered last rites as he lay on the floor of a fashionable restaurant. The priest had been dining in another section of the restaurant.

When Quinn could not be revived he was taken by rescue truck to Jefferson Hospital. There he regained consciousness, sat up and wanted to leave.

Physicians, however, ordered absolute rest for him. They said the tests would proceed slowly so his rest would not be interrupted. He is reported in good condition.

Quinn came to the Phillies in 1959 after 14 years with the Braves at Boston and Milwaukee. In five years he helped lift the Phils from the depths of the National League's second division to a 1st place finish. Quinn also named Bob Carpenter also named Quinn a vice president.

Favor Spartans In Feature Tilt

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan and Michigan State, who have been bumping heads in football about as long as they've been building cars in Detroit, go at it again Saturday.

This is the traditional collegiate game of the year to Michigan sports fans.

It doesn't matter to them that both teams have been beaten once, Michigan 26-13 by Navy and Michigan State 13-10 by Southern California. It's still the first Big Ten outing for both.

Local sports fans are ready to forget about the pussycat baseball Tigers and are discouraged over the lackluster pro Lions. At least, they know a home team will win this time.

So the ticket sales figure is climbing toward the Michigan Stadium capacity of 101,001 and the 16th consecutive sellout in the series dating back to 1898.

Michigan State, victor in six of the last seven games—there was a tie in 1958—is favored again. The Spartans blanked the Wolver-

Coaches Get Pat On Back From Chicago Sportswriter

Coaches of high school athletes came in for a pat on the back from a nationally known sports writer at a conference for coaches, athletic directors and administrators during the MEA convention here Thursday.

Jim Enright, Big Ten basketball official and a sports scribe on the staff at the Chicago American said:

"You high school coaches are often underpaid, overworked and sometimes harassed in your jobs."

Enright praised the coaches for their part in shaping the ideals and attitude of thousands of young men.

"Keep Them Running"

"Don't give the youngsters a chance to look for the soft job, he warned coaches. "Nobody wants to take a gamble anymore, everybody is playing it safe, in sports and in life in general. You basketball coaches can beat that attitude, make your kids play a running game, a spectators game," Enright advised.

A native of Eau Claire, Mich., Enright has been a Chicago sports writer for 25 years and has covered the Chicago Cubs for the last 12 years.

He entertained with inside stories on sports figures and personalities and answered questions from the audience.

Sullivan Honored

C. J. Sullivan, former L'Anse superintendent, was honored for 30 years of service on the Upper Peninsula Athletic Committee. Sullivan, who retired last year, was presented with a plaque by Charles Forsythe, state director of high school athletics. Sullivan was a charter member of the Upper Peninsula Athletic Committee.

The most controversial figure to wear a Red Sox uniform since Ted Williams retired, Stuart took full advantage of Fenway Park's short if high left field wall this season after a miserable 1962 at Pittsburgh.

The right-handed slugger drew 36 of the 64 votes case by baseball writers in the annual Associated Press poll. Far behind in the runner-up position was Detroit pitcher Frank Lary, who got six votes.

Baltimore pitcher Steve Barber, Boston third baseman Frank Malzone and Detroit outfielder Al Kaline each were named on three ballots.

The Red Sox acquired Stuart in an inter-league trade after he hit a meager .228 with only 16 homers and 64 runs batted in for the Pirates. Transplanted to Boston, Stuart led the American League in RBI with 118, was second to Harmon Killebrew in homers with 42 and boosted his average to .261.

School representatives named to sit with the Upper Peninsula Committee at the December basketball meeting were Sam Dubow of Sault Ste. Marie, Edward Kukuk of Stambaugh, John Maloney of Houghton and Walter Bath of National Mine.

The Kansas City Athletics and the Minnesota Twins divided 18 decisions this year.

Yankees To Ruin Mantle's Winter

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees have decided to ruin Mickey Mantle's winter rather than ruin their summer.

With the Los Angeles Dodgers having ruined 1963, the Yankees are taking no chances with '64. Thursday they announced that the reluctant Mantle would return to New York within two weeks for an operation on his left knee.

Mantle, 32, who has undergone operations from his toes to his tonsils during his 13-year major league career, has shied away from the latest bout with the scalpel.

"It sure would ruin my winter," said Mantle.

Just before the World Series opened, Yankee team physician Dr. Sidney Gaynor said "the need for an operation" for removal of

Bass Fishing Is Excellent

Fishing for smallmouth black bass has been excellent during the past week in West Wilsey Bay and very good in Little Bay de Noc off Masonville, the Conservation Department reports.

Still fishing with minnows and nightcrawlers has produced some very large bass with early mornings and evenings being the best times of the day. Some northern and walleyes are being taken off Masonville and in the area around north Gladstone. Perch fishing is fair to good off Squaw Point Light, north Gladstone, along the west shore of the Stonington Peninsula and off Escanaba.

Airport and Swanzy lakes (experimental) open to fishing until Oct. 15 in the Gwin area, are producing good brook trout fishing on flies, grubs and small lures.

AuTrain Lake, 16 Mile Lake, AuTrain Basin, Little Lake and Lake Stella in the Chatham-Trenary area also continue to provide some success for species present — among which are pike, walleye, bass and perch.

There is very little fishing activity in other areas in the Delta-Marquette-Alger district.
